

NSW Housing Code Implementation Workshops | INVITATION

You are invited to register or nominate staff for free implementation workshops on the NSW Housing Code presented by the Department of Planning throughout February 2009.

The workshops will provide education and training for councils and housing industry practitioners focusing on the key components of the NSW Housing Code and the State Environmental Planning Policy (Exempt and Complying Development Codes) 2008 (SEPP) in preparation for its commencement on 27 February 2009.

Copies of the NSW Housing Code Information Packs will be available at the workshop you attend.

REGISTER YOUR ATTENDANCE

There are four separate workshops targeted for different stakeholder groups (practitioner, council, council customer service and community);

Practitioner Workshops

Aimed at housing industry practitioners including people undertaking certification work, architects and building designers and planners and will include detailed technical content relating to the NSW Housing Code and the SEPP

Council Workshops

Aimed at council staff and will include an overview of the NSW Housing Code and the SEPP plus content relating to the commencement of the code on 27 February 2009 focusing on the process for nomination of local exclusions and local variations. Strategic planners and GIS officers are encouraged to attend

Council Customer Service Workshops

Aimed at council customer service staff and will include an overview of the NSW Housing Code and the SEPP plus the information available from the Department of Planning to assist customer service staff to communicate the code to the public

Community Information Sessions

A free information session on the NSW Housing Code for members of the community interested in building a new home or undertaking home improvements under the code

The NSW Housing Code implementation workshops are complimentary but registration is required.

You should select the workshop and location most appropriate to you, complete the registration form and fax to 02 9228 6210 or scan / attach and email to camilla.betts-holliday@planning.nsw.gov.au.
